DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The building is a single story, hipped roof structure of smooth white brick. Square in plan, it is oriented diagonally southwest to the corner of Lafayette and West streets. The rear half is the station proper; the front half is a drive-through open portico. The front corners are supported by two square brick columns that corbel out at the capitals. Between the columns lie the pump island on which stand two restored and workable hand pumps of vintage style.

Originally made of cream colored brick laid in a stretcher bond, the building has been painted white throughout. The wood portions have been painted green, including the door, window frames, beams and the exposed rafter ends of the eaves. The roof is covered in weathered shakes; originally, the roof was of composition shingle.

The enclosed station proper is a single space, though originally it had been partitioned into two smaller ones. At front center is the door, to the right of which is a window of equal size---originally another door. To the left is a large fixed picture window, along the top of which runs a transom of eight panes. The two end walls contain two operable windows each. The back northeast wall is blank. A triangular skylight has been installed in the hip roof at the back, but is not visible from the street.

The site itself has maintained its integrity, remaining basically unaltered since its original concrete surface was poured.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Magnolia Company building is one of the earliest and best maintained examples of the drive-in station type form. Built in 1925, it is the first of its kind to be built of fireproof material, costing little over $3,600 at the time. Research indicates it is the only remaining structure of this defunct company in the area, one of the few contracted by the well-known Mr. Earl Bird of Fayetteville.

The greatest significance of the Magnolia Company building lies in the fact that it has maintained the scale and grain of Lafayette Street's fine homes, providing a fit terminus to the axis of Lafayette and West Streets. The restoration has been done sensitively and the owner, Mr. Lloyd, has incorporated a new use in an unpre-sumptuous manner.

Re: Magnolia Company Filling Station
Fayetteville, Washington County

Dear Mr. Lloyd:

The staff of the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program is preparing a National Register nomination for the Magnolia Company Filling Station which will be presented to the Arkansas State Review Committee at their September meeting. If approved, the nomination will be submitted to the National Register office in Washington for final consideration.

The National Register of Historic Places is a listing of historic sites, buildings, objects, and districts from all across the country that are worthy of preservation.

Entry in the National Register is an honor which places no obligation on a private owner. It does, however, provide protection through comment by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation from federally financed, assisted or licensed projects that might affect a National Register property.

On October 4, 1976, the President signed a Tax Reform Act of which Section 2124 refers to tax incentives for historic properties. Enclosed you will find an information sheet on that tax act.

If you have any questions concerning the program or this property's nomination, please contact Dianna Kirk of our staff.

Enclosed are two copies of this letter. Please complete the form below, sign and return the original to our office. The copy is for your files. We would appreciate receiving any comments you might have concerning the nomination of this property. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, your approval will be assumed.

Sincerely,

Barbara Woodard, Deputy Director
Arkansas Historic Preservation Program

I approve of the nomination of the above property to the National Register of Historic Places.
